THE ECHO

Published by the Senior Class
CHAMBERSBURG HIGH SCHOOL
CHAMBERSBURG, PENNA.

1940

Foreword

In composing this, the twenty-sixth edition of THE ECHO, the Staff has endeavored to provide a memorial record for the class of 1940 and to furnish for the student body as a whole a register of high school organizations, activities, and events. By sketches and photographs we have attempted to suggest the class theme and to portray school life.

D e d i c a t i o n

To the co-operative and patient taxpayers of Chambersburg and vicinity we, the Class of 1940, dedicate this, the twenty-sixth edition of THE ECHO, as a token of our sincere appreciation and gratitude. A mere dedication, however, cannot begin to express our sense of obligation for the invaluable support we have received throughout our school career.

Administration

Appreciation to Faculty

Although we realize that not until we have been out of school for several years shall we fully appreciate our indebtedness to those who guided us in our studies, yet we are deeply conscious of the fact that it is to our teachers that we owe whatever success we have achieved. It is with sincere regret that we sever our relations with the faculty of our school, and we assure them that in our hearts we are deeply grateful for their efforts in our behalf.

Tribute

With the retirement of Miss Rilla Huber the Chambersburg High School lost the services not only of an efficient teacher but of one whom strength and uprightness of character made a valuable member of a faculty dedicated to the training of youth. Miss Huber's sincere interest in people was a fine asset in her school work. During the latter years of her career it was a source of real regret to her that because of the heavy demands of school schedules there was but meager opportunity for those social contacts which in more leisurely days used to develop into close and enduring friendships between teachers and those taught.

Good luck to you, Miss Huber, and best wishes for a long, happy vacation!

Board of Education

Perhaps no town has been more fortunate than Chambersburg in the men who compose and have composed The Board of Education. From the time of its first schools, they have been men of high integrity, willing to devote their time and energy to the good of the schools without pay, and at times perhaps, without thanks. Conservative in their attitude, but progressive at all times, they have administered their duties without political or personal prejudice, working for the best interests of the schools and the taxpayers. To them the class of 1940 wish to express their gratitude, hoping that the Chambersburg schools may continue to be so fortunate in the character of the men who constitute The Board of Education.

Song

(Words and Music by ROSALIE FORNEY)

Loyal, faithful service to the C. H. S.
Class of 1940 pledged to do its best.
Cheerful, honest, willing, strive to meet each task,
Worthy of the red and white loved by the class.

CHORUS

Ah, Nature, in all of your splendor, our emblem we hold dear.
As we journey o'er life's highway, we spread beauty, light, and cheer.

Whether skies be cloudy, whether skies be blue,
With bright and smiling faces, we greet each day anew.
Loyal service is our motto to our school so dear.
All hail to 1940, gem of all the year!

In Memoriam

FRED BENEDICT and LORRAINE REED

O young ones, gone from earth to Heaven,
Think not that we forget you, or that tears have ceased to flow!
Remember that we loved you:
That your figures, faces, smiles still stay with us—below.

O dear ones, your dreams, too, still remain here,
They have not been forgotten, no. Nor will they leave our hearts!
Remember that we loved them;
That your hopes, ideals and thoughts were youth—and all that youth imparts.

For lives lost young are not erased
By e'en the sands of Time.
They shimmer on like bubbles bright
Which, rising on the wind, now burst,
But leave behind
A memory of colored light
Which shines all pure and clear
Because it left while still ascending;
So seems to God more near.

S. J. ZACHARIAS

Dear Terry,
 Dear! Don't forget the wonderful times
 we've had together. Really
 Hark like you dear!
 I'm not lying. You
 made a beautiful attendant.
 Don't forget the nites we slept together. Nory! Nory!
 Ch. what! God!

Song—Class of 1941

Here's to our class of forty-one
 May we ever be on top.
 And though we always have our fun,
 Our work will never, never stop.
 We'll keep on striving through the future,
 For the fame that we should hold,
 And through all the years remember,
 To be true to the blue and gold.

The blue means loyalty forever,
 The gold a shining goal to reach.
 We shall forget these symbols never,
 And our ideals to others teach.
 Our class may bring us joy tomorrow;
 The future cannot be so sure;
 But with our blue and gold
 We'll be true to the blue and gold.

Cheer—Class of 1941

Wheels of progress,
 Gold and Blue,
 To our colors ever true,
 Hold them high dear '41
 Complete the work that we've begun.

Hi c' you Terry
 Here's to our good looking attendant. May you have all the health and happiness
 the world can offer.

School Song

Chambersburg High! Chambersburg High!
To honor thee I'll always try,
May never act of mine bring shame
To dim the brightness of thy name!
Ideals high and purpose fine
Through all thy daily life do shine;
If we but cultivate thy grace,
We'll never harbor motives base.

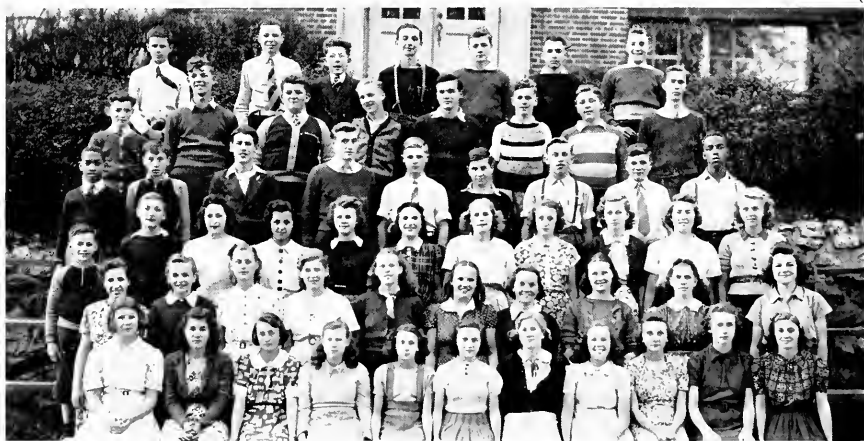

CHORUS

Chambersburg, fair Chambersburg High!
All hail to thee! We'll faithful slay,
And try to serve thee every day,
Chambersburg, fair Chambersburg High.

It is thine aim to teach aright,
To give to heart and hand a light
That, trimmed and guarded day by day,
Will bright illumine life's long way.
In every part of this broad earth
Thy sons and daughters prove thy worth.
May I, too, render service fine
And honor thee, O school of mine.

Library Staff

Under the supervision of the librarian, fifty library staff members have cared for approximately 3,000 books and 5,000 magazines during this school year. For this work they have received scholastic credit. These members, who are really interested in books and desirous of increasing their knowledge concerning the duties of a librarian, have occupied different positions throughout the year. Some of their more important duties have been to charge and return books, give information to students when needed, keep the library in good order at all times, and inform students and faculty about new books by means of book displays, bulletin board notices, and Parrot articles.

In celebrating Book Week this year, the Library Staff sponsored a play in assembly, depicting the printing of the first book, the Gutenberg Bible.

Student Advisory Council

One of the outstanding scholastic organizations of the student body is the Student Advisory Council, which is composed of the presidents of all the organizations in the school, including home rooms and classes.

The purposes of this governing body are "to provide opportunities for self-expression and self-direction, to create opportunities for closer co-operation between students and faculty, to foster school spirit, and to aid in the direction of all worthy school activities."

In November two delegates of the Council attended the state convention of Student Councils at Lancaster. There they surveyed the work done by similar organizations in other schools. Joint meetings with councils in neighboring towns were held and school problems were discussed.

Dancing classes under the supervision of the Athletic Department were sponsored by the Council. Approximately two hundred and fifty students have been given instruction. Taking advantage of Leap Year, the club introduced something new in the way of entertainment—a "Sadie Hawkin's Day Dance". This is the first step in the council's plan for improvement in the social life of the student body.

Tri-Hi-Y

The purpose of the Tri-Hi-Y is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the community high standards of Christian character. In a few years after its organization the membership became so great that two groups, a Senior Tri-Hi-Y and a Junior Tri-Hi-Y, had to be formed. Today the clubs have a total membership of two hundred and seventy.

At Thanksgiving the girls contribute and collect food and money for baskets, which are distributed to the needy of Chambersburg, and at Christmas time they help the Hi-Y with its Christmas project.

For seven years the two groups have participated in a statewide Bible Study Contest, and each time have shared the highest honors. The Bible Study, which covers a period of about six weeks, is under the supervision of the Chambersburg Ministerium, to whom the club is deeply indebted.

The meetings throughout the remainder of the year are devoted to the development of character and personality and to the discussion of social and personal problems.

Equal emphasis is placed upon the social phases of the Tri-Hi-Y. Suppers, parties, and hikes afford the girls a chance to mingle and to develop a spirit of friendliness toward each other.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y conducts an "Honor Point" system during the year. A certain number of points are given for attending morning and evening church services, Sunday School, Young People's meetings, and Rallies; for taking part in club programs; for reading ten verses of the Bible daily; for participating in worthwhile parade-marching; for performing certain service tasks in the school and the community; for breaking up bad habits, etc. Each week a record is kept of each girl's points and at the end of the year Tri-Hi-Y emblems are awarded to the six girls receiving the highest number of points.

The Tri-Hi-Y Clubs also send seven or eight girls to Newton Hamilton Training Camp each year, where they learn valuable lessons and make many friends.

The Hi-Y

Organized in 1929, the Hi-Y has become so popular that it has been necessary to form three groups—the Senior Class Hi-Y, the Junior Class Hi-Y, and the Junior Hi-Y—so that more effective personal work may be done.

The purpose of all three groups is to create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian living throughout the school and the community. The activities of the Hi-Y are of three types: studies designed to help the students deal with moral problems, charitable work, and recreation.

Because its results are apparent immediately, and because of its direct emotional appeal, the Christmas party sponsored by the two upper class clubs is considered the major project of the year. For this work the clubs are divided into committees of three or four, each of which is assigned to a separate Home Room to collect toys, food, and clothing for the children of needy families in the vicinity of Chambersburg.

Several members of the Senior club act as leaders for the Gra-Y clubs in the grade schools. The Junior Hi-Y, which serves as a bridge between the Gra-Y and the advanced clubs, is made up of boys from the Freshman and Sophomore classes.

All three clubs are recognized by the state organization. The programs, however, are suggested almost entirely by members of the school clubs and concern the problems of particular interest to youth. These programs are conducted in the form of discussions in which all of the members take part. During the second semester seven programs are reserved for Bible study, which is conducted by local ministers. Although the boys' organizations do not compete with other schools of the state in this study, a great deal of benefit is derived from these meetings.

The clubs are financed by dues paid by the members. The Senior club this year sponsored a dance during the Christmas season to supplement the money collected in dues. Part of the club fund is used to send representatives to conventions and to buy food for the annual spring hike, one of the most enjoyable events of the year. In addition to these activities inter-club basketball games are promoted for recreational purposes, thus providing a well-rounded program.

The popularity and amazing growth of the Hi-Y is proof of its value to the individual, the school, and the community. A general survey of the work of the clubs demonstrates this value. While the clubs do not claim their members are models of perfection, they do point with pride to the very noticeable effects of their work. By their participation in the Christmas party the boys acquire an interest in the community.

The Hi-Y has long realized the value of some form of community recreational center and have worked hard to promote the undertaking of such a project in Chambersburg.

Dramatic Club

This year the Dramatic Club has been more active than in former years. The Thanksgiving and Christmas programs presented for Assembly were of a somewhat different character from those given heretofore. The Thanksgiving program included a pantomime of the poem "Hiawatha" and a dramatization of "The Courtship of Miles Standish". The Christmas play was an adaptation of a familiar book, "The Bird's Christmas Carol."

Probably the most unusual project was the originating of what the club hopes will become a school tradition—a procession of the club members, carrying lighted candles, sang Christmas carols in the corridors on their last meeting-day before the vacation.

Club meetings were devoted to the study of the development of the theatre and the drama, excerpts from famous plays, and choric reading.

Debating Club

The ability to express one's self in a pleasant and convincing manner is becoming more necessary every day for a student or citizen. It is toward this goal that the Debating Club strives. As a result of participation in carefully planned debates, discussions and open forums the members of this organization are enabled to attain more self-confidence and poise. The subjects which are debated or discussed cover a wide range. World events, especially the European War, were particularly popular this year; governmental policies, labor laws, social conditions, and similar questions were also reviewed. Matters of interest to the school were discussed and remedies or improvements were suggested.

Membership is limited to students who have been recommended by members of the faculty and approved by the Club.

Book Club

The Book Club is made up of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors—the membership being limited to the capacity of Room 205.

The club was organized, not only for the enjoyment of those who like to read, but also with a view toward encouraging the reading of better books. This year great interest was aroused by Carl Crow's "The Chinese Are Like That". At the conclusion of the study the book was presented to the school library.

The club also keeps in touch with new developments in motion pictures, trying to review new productions before they are shown locally.

Co-operation with the library by calling attention to the books on the display shelf and by suggesting new books for the school collection is also an aim of this organization.

Latin Club

"Labor omnia vincit."—Work conquers all things. The Latin Club is composed of thirty-six members who are interested in gaining an insight into the Roman civilization—its laws, customs, religion, and daily life—with a consequent appreciation of our indebtedness to the past. The programs have had such themes as "The Roman Forum", "Roman Amusements", "God and Goddesses", "The Saturnalia", "Roman Music", and others which help develop a literary taste and interest in art and mythology.

Dramatization, pantomimes, Latin songs, games, and charades help to make the meetings more interesting. Business sessions are conducted in Latin. "When in Rome do as the Romans do."

Le Cercle Francais

The purposes of "Le Cercle Francais" are to learn about the French people, to acquire an appreciation of their customs, art, and "couleur locale", and to stimulate an interest in the French language.

This year "Le Cercle Francais" conducted in imagination the "Exposition Francaise" at the World's Fair in New York. Any French student interested in joining this club was requested, as a qualification for entry, to bring an exhibit to the Fair and explain it; about twenty-five did so, making the club membership a total of fifty-two.

"Le repertoire" of "programmes" at the Exposition consisted of various phases of French life—"Les Vins", "L'Art", "Le Guignol", "Les Musees", "Les Fetes", "Les Dances", "Le Noel", "Mardi Gras", "Joan d'Arc", et "Quebec".

Le Cercle presented during the year several films on France, and held a French exhibit in the library, and the musical members of the club gave a "Musical Francaise" in the auditorium for the student body. As a project the club prepared a booklet of French songs, some of which were sung with each programme.

In the fall Le Cercle emphasized its social nature by playing bridge, bingo, and charades in French at "Une Soiree" "Un Grand Bal", where everyone "s'amuserent" dancing.

La Tertulia Espanola

The object of the Spanish Club is to become better acquainted with the art, customs, literature, and music of Spanish-speaking peoples. This year the club's theme is "Closer to our neighbor Mexico."

The meetings, held twice a month, are usually conducted in Spanish. Membership in the club, which is now eight years old, is limited to those students who have studied one or more years of Spanish.

The club's colors are red and gold; the flower is the red rose, and the club song "La Tertulia".

The climax of the year's program is the celebration of the fiesta.

Science Club

On alternate Tuesdays the Science Club, limited to thirty-six members, holds its regular meetings. The programs include the reading of scientific essays written by club members, followed by general discussions. Guest speakers, often alumni, give talks on their scientific hobbies, as do the club members.

Motion pictures pertaining to science are obtained, and excursions are made to nearby places for the observation of such natural phenomena as Baker Caverns and for the study of applied science in power and light plants. One of the most valuable features of the Science Club is the fact that the members develop an interest in local public utilities, such as the Disposal Plant, and in such industries as The Chambersburg Engineering Company, and The Blue Ridge Woolen Mills.

Visual Education Club

The Visual Education Club was organized to aid the teachers of the Chambersburg School District and to further the use and care of audio-visual education equipment. The club not only provides helpful service to teachers, but also gives practical experience to students.

The members of the club are divided into three groups: secretaries, operators, and photographers. Each division has certain duties to perform and responsibilities to assume.

The secretaries are members of the upper classes who are taking the commercial course. They aid teachers in selecting and scheduling service. Each secretary also has a section of the files to keep in order.

Pupils from all classes and courses may apply for membership as operators. The operators learn all branches in the use and care of projection equipment, radios, amplifiers, and other sound machines.

Two Senior members of the club are appointed as general secretary and chief operator. These two are directly responsible to the club advisers and see that the appointed work is carried out.

A few of the club members are assigned to the photography department. These members study and learn about photographic procedure: picture taking, developing, printing, and enlarging.

The Agriculture Club is made up chiefly of boys from the rural districts who meet on alternate Tuesdays throughout the school year. Membership is open to all high school boys who are interested in farm problems.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate and promote interest in agriculture and to prepare boys for farm life.

The program of the club includes motion pictures, excursions to rural sections, demonstrations of farm equipment, and discussion of the 4-H Club work and its organization.

Nurses of Tomorrow

Motto: She is everywhere recognized as a practitioner of hygiene, a teacher of health, and a minister to the ailing.

The first club of its kind in the state, the Nurses Club, organized in 1937, has encouraged the formation of similar clubs in other Pennsylvania high schools. In our school it has attained a membership of sixty-five and has greatly enlarged the sphere of its activities.

The varied and well-rounded programs carried out by the club help the members to learn more about the history of the nursing profession, aid them in choosing a good training school, and give them a broad and intelligent view of the many different fields and opportunities in a nursing career.

The club has a very large supply of reading material, which is distributed among the members, enabling them to make a more detailed study of the problems discussed in the regular meetings.

This year the club heard a series of lectures by men and women who are specialists in their field of medicine. In addition to the various social events the girls have also enjoyed trips to local and nearby places of particular interest to the club.

Costume Club

Membership in the Costume Club is limited to twenty-five girls, new members being chosen from applicants of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes.

The goal of the club is to give members the opportunity to develop personality, to learn useful arts, and to gain experience in stage costuming.

This year the girls have received instructions in personal grooming, have assisted in the costuming for assembly programs and plays, and have learned such useful arts as knitting and chocheting.

Boys' Glee Club

"We, the members of the Boys' Glee Club of Chambersburg High School, in order to form more musical minds, establish in men an appreciation of vocal music, insure better tone of better quality, provide adequate training for general vocal expression, and secure the blessings of music and song to ourselves and our posterity do ordain and establish this constitution of the Boys' Glee Club of Chambersburg High School."

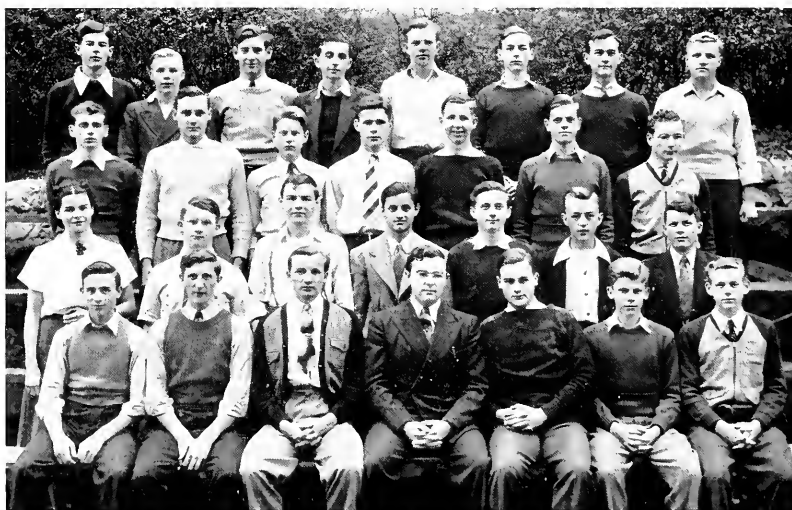

This preamble from the Constitution of the Boys' Glee Club ably states the purpose of the organization. By devoting at least an hour each Wednesday evening to both serious and gay singing, this club stimulates an interest in vocal music and vocal expression. Leading assembly sings and presenting an annual Easter cantata in collaboration with the Treble Clef Club are several of the activities of this organization.

Band

Increasing in size and appearance as well as in musical ability, the Chambersburg High School Band is an organization that confers much prestige on the school.

Under the leadership of Mr. Valentine the band members spend much time in practice, both as a unit and in separate instrumental groups.

Rain or shine the band does its duty by the football team. With the cooperation of the members this year Mr. Valentine worked out series of marching formations so that the band might honor both the home team and the visitors by arranging groups in the shape of the school letters.

Not the least important part of the work of this organization is the series of concerts given for the public during the school year.

Orchestra

Formed to give those persons with a desire to develop their musical ability an opportunity to do so, the High School Orchestra has long been a valuable factor in the cultural program.

Under the direction of Mr. Valentine rehearsals are held every Thursday in Activities period, and the members make rapid progress.

A select group of orchestra members play for the weekly assemblies, the school plays, and other high school functions held in the auditorium.

That some of the members are exceptionally talented is shown in the presentation of their original compositions and arrangements as well as by line solo work.

Dance Orchestra

The Rythm Kids, the high school dance orchestra now in its fourth year, under the direction of Mr. Philip Young, play for many of the high school dances and for out-of-school activities. They have made recordings which have been played both in school and over station WJEJ, Hagerstown, Maryland. During each year the orchestra presents an assembly program, which is always looked forward to with great anticipation.

The four Senior members—Philip Michaels, Clifford Harris, Albert Sites, and Janet Pensinger—will undoubtedly be greatly missed next year.

The second dance orchestra has attained a degree of efficiency that makes them also eligible for playing engagements.

Additional Clubs

C. V. F. T.

The C. V. F. T. is an honorary Biology Club which was first organized in 1936. The general purpose of the club is to foster interest in Biology and encourage sociability among the members. The real purpose of the organization is revealed to members only. Membership is limited to those students who have an average in Biology of 90% or over. The annual hike is the highlight of the Club's activity. The officers in charge this year were:

Grand Wizard—GEORGE BENDER

Scribe—LOUISE DENTLER

Treasurer—DONALD SAUNDERS

Adviser—MR. GEORGE BEICHER

"C" CLUB

After a lapse of several years the "C" Club, membership in which is limited to boys who have won their varsity letters, has been revived. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest in athletics.

Mr. Rines and Mr. Schlichter are the advisers. Meetings are held in the gymnasium at seven o'clock on the last Thursday of the month.

SERVICE SQUADS

Hall Squad—The groups known as the Hall Squads were organized by the principal about thirteen years ago. It is their obligation to keep the halls orderly and to give information to visitors. Two students are assigned to each floor for each period in the day. This year eighty students made up the list of regular and substitute members, who are drawn from all four classes. The credit for the efficiency of this squad goes to William Stoner, the captain.

Attendance Squad—The Attendance Squad is made up of boys and girls who collect absentee slips from home rooms each session and from class rooms and study halls each period. They are efficient and prompt and therefore have established a fine system of recording all absences.

Book Squad—The Book Squad distribute and collect the song books in assembly. The boys are to be commended for the efficiency with which they perform this work.

Stage Crew—Under the direction of Miss Rayner, dramatics and public speaking teacher, the stage crew have charge of all stage equipment. They build scenery, set the stage, and take care of the lighting effects for school programs and plays. They are one of the most valuable organizations in the school.

Cafeteria Staff—Practical experience is available through the school cafeteria to girls interested in the planning and preparation of meals. The members are required to have had at least one year's training in Foods. Under the direction of Miss Boger and Miss Blakemore the girls help to plan and serve the lunches, each girl acting one week as manager.

Basketball

Although the 1939-40 basketball season was not highly successful, the squad should be complimented for their earnest endeavor. It should be remembered that a great percentage of the defeats were by one or two points.

The junior varsity turned in one of its most successful seasons by winning fifteen games and losing three. They again captured runner-up honors in the Reserve Conference division.

The Senior Play

THE MERRY HARES

by

AGNES EMELIE PETERSON

FEBRUARY 1 and 2, 1940

Its plot complicated by several cases of mistaken identity and involving a number of somewhat eccentric but lovable characters, the Merry Hares proved one of the most delightful plays ever given in our school.

SYNOPSIS

"Up in the Air" describes the general condition of the operetta's hero, Harold Post. Because the father of the girl he loves desires a "he-man" for a son-in-law, Harold endeavors to prove himself up to standards. Jim, his pal (?), tries to help him by pretending that Harold is going to make a parachute jump. However, the pretending goes too far and Harold is forced to make the jump. He does so successfully and wins the admiration of his girl, Betty Burbank, and the approval of her father.

Boy Treasurer—LUKE BENTEN
Historian—RAYMOND ROOF

With the usual trepidation we entered upon our Freshman year, a body of three hundred and ten. But with our debut into the social world at the Hallowe'en party we began to gain confidence and were particularly proud of the fact that we had our own orchestra. Our self-esteem was further raised by an assembly program in which we presented one hundred Freshmen, including a chorus and an orchestra. Our first service to the school was sponsoring the operetta.

As Sophomores, our first big event was again the Hallowe'en Party, for which we provided decorations and entertainment.

Later in the year, amid much secrecy and mystery, (sh-sh!) we chose our class theme and emblem, which were not disclosed until that day of days—Color Day, when we unfurled our pennants, gave our cheer, and sang our class song for the first time.

As a proof of our graduation into the upper classes, we were permitted to have representatives in the Color Day Court (Marian Glass and Connie Pitman) and to attend the Color Day dance in the gym that evening.

With us, as with all Junior classes, the big events of our third year were our Spring Frolic, our Color Day gift, and our reception for the Senior class.

On Color Day the class of '40 was proud to present to the school a trophy case which was of special interest because it had been made by two class members, John Brown and Claude Sharp. The Junior representatives in the Color Day court were Marian Glass, Maid of Honor, and Connie Pitman and Louise Perry, attendants.

Our last big "affair" was the Junior Reception for the Seniors at which our musical maestro was Red McCarthy with his Diplomats. Flowers for a roof and a fountain for a centerpiece carried out the class theme, Nature. Without a doubt this occasion will always stand out as one of our loveliest school memories.

Our Junior year was greatly saddened by the loss of one of our most loyal members, Fred Benedict, for whom we held a simple but impressive Memorial Service.

Historian—JANET CASSEDAY

In contrast with the trepidation of our Freshman debut, our return as Seniors was marked by confidence and eager anticipation. This was the year in which big things were to be done. First, and most important, was our yearbook, the Echo, which we have endeavored to make more pictorial than those of previous years.

We began our money-making campaign with an "End-of-Summer" dance, the unique decorations for which were bathing-suits, tennis rackets, and other summer regalia. Unusually successful magazine and Christmas card sales swelled our coffers, which were still further augmented by the proceeds of the "Relief" dance with which we celebrated the end of the first semester examinations, and those of our Senior play, a "smash hit". Two other social functions, our dance for the Alumni and the President's Ball (at which we were mere humble checkers of coats and hats), also contributed nice sums toward our Washington-trip fund. Toward this fund, too, went all those dollars earned by the hardest-working committee of our four years—that noble band headed by Nancy Sherk, who in rain or shine, heat or cold, provided the public with hot dogs and cold bottles.

As our Echo goes to press, the two major aims in our High School life, our Washington trip and commencement, are still to be realized. When these are over, for us it will be "Farewell to Chambersburg High!"

The Story of the Echo

Fifty-five years ago the first Chambersburg High School Echo was issued, but it was far different from the Echo as we know it.

That publication was a school paper, first edited by the Senior class of the Girls' High School on Washington Street in the school year 1884-1885. It consisted of four two-column, handwritten pages of foolscap paper with the name printed in Old English script. Between the two words of the title was a drawing of the lamp of learning. This design was originated by Emily Cressler (now Mrs. C. D. Keefer of town), who also wrote the paper. On its various pages were stories, poems, and news items which were read aloud at meetings held on Friday afternoons once a month. The paper was continued for a number of years, and copies of it were kept on file, but they have since disappeared. After the merging of the Boys and Girls High Schools the paper was revived from time to time by the various literary societies.

The first yearbook was published by the class of 1915, who, however, did not give their book a name. It was the class of 1916 who finally decided to use the name The Echo because of its long association with the school's publications.

The editor of the first yearbook was Ruth Whisler, now Mrs. J. W. Miller and the mother of John Whisler Miller, member of the staff of the 1940 Echo.

On Being in Charge of an Assembly Program

Here they come! Twelve-hundred scavengers to tear me limb from limb! I shudder just thinking of it. Ouch!!!

Well, here I go. The orchestra has stopped playing, and the vultures are settling back comfortably in preparation for a feast. (That's me.) Mentally, I shake my hand, clap myself on the back and say, "It was nice knowing you, old pal!" I give my stockings a final yank, clear by suddenly husky throat, and squaring my shoulders, rise from my seat and march to the slaughter.

There are the steps, four high and perilous barriers. As I place my trembling foot on the first, my mind travels wildly. Are my stocking seams straight? Will I stumble up the remaining stairs? Is my hem scalloped or (miraculously) straight? How does my hair look? Finally, after an eternity of torture, I have surmounted the last obstacle, and slightly (oh, how very slightly) relieved, I turn to face the foe. With clammy hands I open the Bible and begin to read. What strange words these are! They don't look or sound like any I have ever seen before. Oh-oh! Here comes a whopper! Whew! I made it! Now wait—wait for the quartette behind the curtain Where are they? What has happened? One awful, terrifying moment . . . "Hear my prayer, O Lord . . ." (They have no idea just how appropriate that is!) What a relief! Good old quartette! "Let us pray together the Lord's prayer." As I begin, "Our Father, . . ." a horrible, sickening thought strikes me. I forget to say "Let us bow our heads"! Oh, dear! An appetizer for the feasters.

"The program this morning is in charge of" My voice quivers, but I make it! No balls, no strikes, no errors! I totter down the stairs and fall relieved into my seat. My hands are cold, and my handkerchief is a tight wad. My knees are weak and my face is burning. My stomach feels like so much vacuum. (P. S. I'm a total wreck!)

The minutes pass with lighting rapidity. Why must they go so quickly on this particular morning? I've never seen a program go so smoothly, speedily! (As an afterthought, I wonder why some other programs can't seem to move at all! (You guess which ones) Ye gods! There's the curtain.

At last . . . "Will the audience please remain quiet while the boys collect the books?" I wish I could say just what I am thinking! I'll bet I'd shock the natives! "Shut up and throw your books to end of the row (darn you!)" That's how I feel! This is the worst part, Look at them stare Gosh, I'll be glad when this is over! Why don't they stop whispering? Will those boys never finish collecting the books?

Ah-ha! Coming down the home stretch. "Let us rise and salute the flag." Good heavens! Where is the darn thing? A moment fraught with despair Whew! How was I to know that I was standing right beside it?

It's over! I'm free again! Oh, happy, happy day! Yippee! Hot-diggety-dog! Never again! "What? I beg your pardon, Miss Shull, what did you say?" "Why, of course, I'd be glad to" (Oh, you stooge, you coward, you weak-kneed so-and-so You dummy! Oh, well, what's the use?) "Yes, Miss Shull, I'll see you in the library at 3:34. When is your program? Next week. Oh, no, I don't mind at all! I love to take charge of assembly. Yes, Miss Shull."

PHOOEY!

S. J. Z.

But of such to me. I
I.
